

Chiropractor

What do they do?

Chiropractors diagnose and treat neuro-musculoskeletal disorders such as spinal problems and sporting injuries.

Tasks and duties

- ▶ Treat patients by adjusting the spinal column to manipulate joints and soft tissues.
- ▶ Assess disorders by examination of patients and by using diagnostic equipment such as x-rays, spinal analysis and electromyography.
- ▶ Reduce physical interference to the nervous system, which may cause pain, impairment of normal function or lowered resistance to disease.
- ▶ Prescribe treatment to be followed including preventative and corrective exercise and diet.
- ▶ Perform pre-employment examinations and workplace assessments.

Where do they work?

- ▶ Most chiropractors work in private practice.

What abilities do I need?

- ▶ An interest in people and good interpersonal skills
- ▶ Enjoy health sciences
- ▶ Attention to detail
- ▶ A reasonable level of physical fitness
- ▶ Able to work independently

National Rural Health Student Network

The National Rural Health Student Network (NRHSN) provides a voice for students who are passionate about improving health outcomes for rural and remote Australians. The NRHSN has over 9,000 members who belong to 28 Rural Health Clubs at universities throughout Australia. They include students studying medical, nursing and allied health courses. The NRHSN offers networking, professional development and opportunities to enable positive rural health experiences. For further information please visit www.nrhsn.org.au

Rural Health Workforce Australia

Rural Health Workforce Australia and the national network of Rural Workforce Agencies attract, recruit and support health workers to care for people in rural and remote communities.

We also know that students are the future of rural health. That's why we support the NRHSN and the 28 university Rural Health Clubs.

So if you are thinking about a career in rural health or want to connect with one of our Clubs, we would love to hear from you.
